

Abstract

Title:

Comparison of female tennis players in selected categories.

Aim of work

Prediction of the critical spots and factors in the training motivation of female tennis players in the categories of lower juniors and upper juniors.

Method:

Empirical research based on the help of a structured questionnaire with open questions.

Results:

Analysis of variables influencing the training motivation in selected categories.

Keywords:

Motivation, intervening variables, critical spots